

North Carolina Teacher Working Conditions Survey

Valerie Hawthorne created this year's survey design. Valerie is a 6th Grade Social Studies teacher at Cedar Creek Middle School in Franklin County Schools.

Dear Colleague:

First, thank you for your service to your students, community, and state. Every child in our nation should have the opportunity to work hard in school and succeed. You help make that happen. North Carolina is fortunate to have you.

As your state Superintendent of Public Instruction, I strive to support you. Knowing how to support you starts with listening to you. I enjoy my visits around the state to see your great work in action, and I wish I could make it to every classroom. Technology makes it possible for us to hear from each one of you. That is exactly what we hope to accomplish today.

Please fill out the upcoming ninth statewide NC Teacher Working Conditions Survey. Let's hit 100% completion this year! This tool allows us to know your perspectives about teaching and learning conditions, and we use the results to promote your priorities to policymakers. For example, report to us how you must allot your time and how you feel about testing.

As with the NC Educators Perspective Surveys we started in August, this survey is anonymous. This letter includes an anonymous access code in the box below. Use this code to access the survey any time from March 1 to March 31 at www.ncteachingconditions.org. Please go complete it soon, so you don't miss this opportunity to have your voice heard.

Also, please look for emails to your inbox directly from us for more important information. An email will come to you each Thursday in March from: NCsuperintendent@public.govdelivery.gov

If you do not see these emails from us in your inbox, please check your junk or spam folders so you do not miss them. (As with many mass emails, ones from NC DPI may end up in spam folders inadvertently.)

We will soon be sending out very important information via email regarding an exciting NC Reads program that will benefit many teachers and students. You will need to follow steps sent from us in emails to take advantage of the program.

Thank you for lending your voice to help shape the future of education in our state and help us make the 2018 NC Teacher Working Conditions Survey the most successful yet!

And, again, thank you for everything you do,

Mark Johnson
